

Robot Adapter

The robot adapter is tailored into exact size of the customer's needs and can either be produced welded in mild steel or milled out of a solid block of aluminium. The steel adapter could optionally be delivered in chromated finish or as standard, painted. The aluminium adapter is as standard in natural finish but can be anodised. The top of the robot connector gets adjusted to get connection holes matching the robot that will be equipped with the UniGripper.

